Why did polysilicon prices decline in Asia?

Asia During the first quarter of 2025, polysilicon prices in Asia experienced a steady decline, closely mirroring trends in the upstream silicon market. The primary drivers of this decline were ongoing global supply chain challenges, high production costs, and sluggish demand growth, which contributed to price consolidation across major regions.

What influenced the polysilicon market in 2025?

Trade and policy changes, particularly with the USA, influenced market sentiment, but China maintained its position as a leading supplier. During the first quarter of 2025, the polysilicon prices in Singapore reached 25 USD/KG in March. The market mirrored worldwide trends, albeit an overstock caused prices to decline.

What is the global polysilicon market size?

The global polysilicon market size reached USD 12 Billion in 2024. By 2033, IMARC Group expects the market to reach USD 25.1 Billion, at a projected CAGR of 8.70% during 2025-2033. The increasing shift toward renewable energy sources, particularly solar power, has significantly impacted the polysilicon market.
